Short Answer Questions

40. Write a short note on the Praeger Perspectives. (p. 30-

(ρ. 3 31)

The Praeger Perspectives is a three volume series from 2007 that researched entrepreneurship from three perspectives: people, process, and place. This study brings together insights into the field of entrepreneurship by some of the leading scholars in the world. The first volume, people, takes a broad view of entrepreneurship as a form of human action, pulling together the current -research with respect to cognitive, economic, social, and institutional factors that influence entrepreneurial behavior. The second volume, process, proceeds through the life cycle of a new venture startup by tackling several key steps in the process: idea, opportunity, team building, resource acquisition, growth management, and entering global markets. The third volume in the series examines place, which refers to a wide and diverse range of contextual factors that influence the entrepreneur and the entrepreneurial process.

41. In the context of the seven dominant themes of desirable and acquirable attitudes and (p. 34) behavior of entrepreneurs, briefly describe the role of creativity, self-reliance, and adaptability.

High levels of uncertainty and rapid change characterizing new ventures require organizations that can respond quickly. The most successful entrepreneurial teams have the ability to focus on a goal with outstanding execution, while being flexible enough to shift when the market and circumstances require it. At the same time, entrepreneurs are not afraid of failing; rather, they are more intent on succeeding.

42. Discuss any two myths and realities about entrepreneurs. (p. 37)

Myth 1—Entrepreneurs are born, not made.

Reality—While entrepreneurs are born with certain native intelligence, a flair for creating, and energy, these talents by themselves are like unmolded clay or an unpainted canvas. The making of an entrepreneur occurs by accumulating the relevant skills, know-how, experiences, and contacts over a period of years and includes large doses of self-development. The creative capacity to envision and then pursue an opportunity is a direct descendant of at least 10 or more years of experience that lead to pattern recognition.

Myth 2—Anyone can start a business.

Reality—Entrepreneurs who recognize the difference between an idea and an opportunity, and who think big enough, start businesses that have a better chance of succeeding. Luck, to the extent it is involved, requires good preparation. The easiest part is starting. What is hardest is surviving, sustaining, and building a venture so its founders can realize a harvest. Perhaps only one in 10 to 20 new businesses that survive five years or more results in a capital gain for the founders.

43. Describe at least three important aspects of courage in entrepreneurship. (p. 33)

Courage has at least three important aspects in entrepreneurship. The first aspect is moral strength and principles. This refers to the character and the personal integrity to know right from wrong, and the will and commitment to act accordingly. The second aspect of courage is being a fearless experimenter. Fearless experimentation suggests restlessness with convention and a rejection of the status quo. This relentless experimentation is enhanced by a third aspect of courage, which is a lack of fear of failing at the experiment and a lack of fear of conflicts that may arise. In other words, there is a mental toughness that is quite impervious to fears but is not ignorant or oblivious to possible consequences.
